Consider Liturgy: Contrary to some view of the liturgy, Cardinal Ratzinger (now Pope Benedict XVI) wrote: "The liturgy is not a show, a spectacle, requiring brilliant producers and talented actors. The life of the liturgy does not consist in 'pleasant' surprises and 'attractive' ideas but in solemn repetitions. It cannot be an expression of what is current and transitory, for it expresses the mystery of the Holy. Many people have felt and said that liturgy must be 'made' by the whole community it is really to belong to them. Such an attitude had led to the 'success' of the liturgy being measured by its effect at the level of spectacle and entertainment. It is to lose sight of what is distinctive to the liturgy, which does not come from what we do but from the fact that something is taking place here that all of us cannot make."

May God bless you. +Bishop Vasa
